

IT'S TIME TO TAKE THIS MONEY OUT OF CIRCULATION.

Until we get big special-interest money out of politics, our elected officials will never be free to tackle health care or jobs or global warming or any of the problems we all desperately want solved.

Depending on wealthy special interests to fund American elections creates a political system that works for big donors, but not for the rest of us. It corrupts our democracy. It may ultimately destroy it.

And the American people know it. They're fed up and demanding change. Fully 74% want public financing for congressional candidates who agree to spending limits and accept only small individual contributions. They want big money out of politics. Now!

And now there's a bill before Congress – the Fair Elections Now Act – that gets the job done.

Do you know where the candidates stand on this hot-button issue? Common Cause has done your homework for you. Check the chart below. If your favorites are on the wrong side, take the time to set them straight.

Make sure they know how important it is that they support Fair Elections Now!

GETTING BIG MONEY OUT OF POLITICS: WHERE DOES EACH CANDIDATE STAND?
Candidates who have committed in writing to work for public financing of elections:
Candidates who have made no such written commitment:
Candidates who oppose public financing:

By mail, Common Cause requested each candidate's position on public financing of elections. We report their position as of 12/12/07. This is not an endorsement of any candidate. Paid for by Common Cause Iowa, 116 E. Platt, Suite W, Maquoketa, IA 52060 – Bob Edgar, President & CEO